General Manager Boos Offers Himself Vicarious Sacrifice for the President's Son.

The Crosby-Harrison libel case is at tracting a great deal of attention in Helena. The INDEPENDENT published yesterday the article which Gov. Crosby considered libelous and which he embodies in his complaint for damages. The dispatches state that Russell B. Harrison says he knew nothing about the article in question and that it was copied into his paper, the Buffalo paper; that he was not in Helena at the time it was published, and that he did not know it was in the paper until after it appeared. He also intimates that his editor at that time, Leslie Sulgrove, was responsible for its publication.

Mr. Sulgrove is librarian of the public library of Helena, and was seen yesterday by an INDEPENDENT reporter, who asked him if he had read the account of Russell B's arrest for libel.

"Yes," was the reply. "I am considerably interested in that case."
"is it true that you are responsible for that libelous matter?"

"I am not. It is true I was editor of the Live Stock Journal at the time, but it is also true that I protested vigorously against allowing the scurrilous matter to appear." "Was it a clipping from a paper?"

"Was it a chipping from a paper?"
It was a clipping pasted upon a piece of paper and a written comment underneath."
"Who gave you the article?"
"Russell B. Harrison."
"Did he write it?"
"He did not."
"Who did?"

"Do you know it was McCutcheon's handwriting?"
"He told me it was."

"He told me it was."
"How did he come to tell you?"
"When Mr. Harrison handed me the article in question I told him I did not want to be responsible for its publication, and he went out of the office, returning with Col. McCutcheon, who said he wrote the article, I still did not want to print it, and Russell B. said 'It goes,' and it went."
"Have you the manuscript?"
"I have not. It is in Gov. Crosby's possession."

"How did you come to keep it."
"That was an afterthought of mine. After it had appeared the thought struck me that the manuscript was worth preserving, and I began searching for it, but could find it nowhere. About a month afterwards I noticed a lot of waste paper which had been swept into a pile near the stove by the office boy. I went through the mass of rubbish, and my search was rewarded by finding what I was looking for. I kept it until I sent it to Gov. Crosby." "You are sure that Mr. Harrison gave i

"I have heard there is something of the kind going on, but they cannot succeed; I am sure of that."

"Do you know anything else in regard to the Crosby-Harrison matter?"

!'I know a good deal which will come out when the proper time comes."

The reporter tried to ascertain exactly what steps had been taken by Mr. Harrison's friends to oust Mr. Suigrove from his place, but further than such a scheme is son's friends to oust Mr. Suigrove from his place, but further than such a scheme is afoot he could learn nothing, but some one has been around among the directors. General Manager Boos was seen last night, told about Mr. Sulgrove's statement, and asked what he had to say. But is Mr. Sulgrove's statement true that Mr. Harrison gave him the article and ordered him to have it set up?"
"It is not. I gave Mr. Sulgrove that Mother Rausch, wealthy and about 50 years of age, was hooked by her pet cow Thurs day night, which caused her more fright than injury. She sent for a notary public and made her will, bequeathing her estate valued at about $20,000, to a Rodney street saloon-keeper and a young woman who had worked for her. About 7 o'clock Thursday evening Mrs. Rausch's pet cow ran through the town,

She followed her and led her near home by a rope, but when the animal was about to be driven in the stable it started to run, throwing Mrs. Rausch to the ground and while she was down hooked her in the breast. Dr. Salvail was summoned. Though the old lady feared that her time had come she has railied, her injuries not being at all serious, and as stated before she was

Region Which Is Rapidly Attaining Prominence.

The Rich Poorman, Tiger, Hunter. Bunker Hill and Sullivan Mines-Building Concentrators.

Notes of the Great Industry Near Philips burg-A Report Made on the San Francisco by Denver Experts.

F. M. Frank, the well-known Cour d'Alene mining operator, returned last night from that promising region and speaks in glowing terms of the progress mining development has made within the past year and of its future possibilities The Cour d'Alenes have; every prospect of proving the evual of the richest mineral district in the world-Butte. Ten concentrators, each of 100 tons capacity, all of which are either running or in course of erection, now occupy ground which two years ago was a seeming waste. Montana men and money have in a large measure contributed to the development of the Coeur d'Alene mines which are now producing ore equal to 240 tons of concentrates per day. This is estimated to be the output, and nearly all of this amount is received at East Helena for reduction. The mines now prominent in ore production are situated at Wardner, Canyon Creek and Mullian Thomas 1997. Canyon Creek and Mullan. Those at Ward ner are the Emma and Last Chance, Bunker Hill and Sullivan, Stem Winder, each having a concentrator and the Sierra Nevada, with a concentrator in course of erection. On Canyon creek are the Tiger, Poorman, Granite, San Francisco and Gem. For the last two, concertrators are going up, and in two month time they will begin to swell the output of concentrates, which is now about 160 tons per day on Canyon creek. The Poorman mine is looking better than it ever did. Mr. Frank brought a piece of the ore found in the lower workings of the shaft, which in the lower workings of the shaft, which is a beautiful specimen and assays 58 ounces silver, 77 per cent lead. There is from four to six feet of this ore.

At Mulian, the Hunter mine has long been the most prominent, and our informant says is still the best developed mine in the place. Its mid is producing fifty tons of concentrates every day, which give returns of ninety ounces silver. The Morning mine, in the same district, has developed into a rich property, and a contract has been let to the Utah & Montana Machinery company for a hundred ton concentrator and ground is now being cleared for it.

cropping out. In the lower tunnel of the Custer two feet of solid galena ore of a high grade has been struck. Mr. Frank says also that the California, Panhandle, Black Cloud and Monarch are all being worked. On Placer guich, near the town of Wal-iace, the Silver Cliff and Copper Butte each have a working force engaged. On the latter is a 250-foot tunnel, with an in-cline of 100 feet, in which a body of dry ore carrying gray carbonate copper has been encountered. Its width is from four to six feet and is considered a valuable

On the South Fork river, the noted Kil-On the South Fork river, the noted Kilbuck mine is yielding concentrating ore of rich quality ready to ship. This mine, Mr. Frank says, has paid $10,000 in dividends and is now bonded for $40,000. The ore runs fifty ounces silver and from fifty to sixty per cent. lead. The Cœur d'Alene Nellie, on Rosebud gulch, which is a South Fork tributary, is owned by Capt. Horton & Co. and has a well-defined lead 1,500 feet long on the surface, from one to two feet wide and of very high grade. Samples of it have assayed from 70 to 7,000 ounces silver. The ore does not carry lead. The mine is bonded for $75,000 and lying idle at present. About $7,000 worth lying idle at present. About $7,000 worth of development work has been executed on DEER LODGE COUNTY. Jas. Patten, of Philipsburg, is in the city.

Mr. Patten has been identified with mines in Philipsburg for the past twelve years and was one of the original owners of the Granite Mountain lead upon which he had nine locations, and sold out at pairry figures. He is also an original owner in the San Francisco and is well posted on min-ing matters. Mr. Patten at one time had charge of the Speckled Trout mine, owned by Caplice & Smith and a Phil-adelphia man. Since the mine was closed down, Mr. Patten has endeavored to have work resumed. It has been idle about four or five years. At the 450 foot level the vein pinched, but Mr. Patten says the ore between that point and the 350-toot level was never stoped. It is one of the oldest mines in the came, and of the oldest mines in the camp, and is esti-mated to have yielded over $2,000,000 out of 32,000 tons of ore. The method of treatment was very expensive and not a great deal of profit was realized. Mr. Patten says it is still a good mine. Before leaving Philipsburg he had a conversation with John Caplice, he had a conversation with John Caplice, a half owner, who is endeavoring to have work resumed. It is thought the Philadelphia man, who holds the other half, is dead, but his heirs are alive, and Mr. Caplice will soon start for the east to consult them on a proposition to resume work. This is just the situation at present, Mr. Patten says, and a strong effort will be made to work the mine again, which, with the present cheap methods of reduction, will pay hand-somely, as in its palmy days nothing less than 100 ounce ore would pay for treatment with the old Bruckner chlorinization syswith the old Bruckner chlorinization sys-Mail: Messrs. Farrish & Lacomb, of Denver, leading experts of Colorado, have been examining the San Francisco mine since Friday of last week, their labors terminating to-day. They have made a thorough examination as to the extent and character of the ore, and will report to the St. Louis office as to the best manner of treating the same. Nothing can be learned from the gentlemen themselves as to the result of their investigations, but it is propable that ver, leading experts of Colorado, have been gentlemen themselves as to the result of their investigations, but it is probable that they will recommend the erection of a concentrator. The San Francisco contains two classes of ore—the gold ore is smelting and the silver ore is roasting. It isn't desirable to build a smelter for one and a roaster for the other, nor to work one class of ore on the grounds and ship the other. The easiest and most profitable solution is to concentrate both classes of ore and send o concentrate both classes of ore and send he product to the Helena and Butte smel ters. In that event a concentrator will be the mine or on the company's ground near tha railroad below town, which will treat between seventy five and one hundred tons Booth's Bazoo, published at Needles, on the Colorada river, San Bernardino county, Cal., gives an interview with an old and re-liable friend just in from the Scanlan dis-trict in the Old Woman mountains: "Well," said the captain, "when Dayad Bruce, who is interested in these claims, Bruce, who is interested in these claims, first showed me a specimen of the ore at Daggett and told me the ledge was sixty feet wide, I laughed at him. The idea of a ledge sixty feet wide in these mountains appeared to me simply rediculous. However, as it appeared to be good smelting ore, I consented to go out and look at the prospects and see if there was anything there.
